TINA GOES FISHING

Tina wanted to catch a fish. It was her dream. So her parents took her fishing on her birthday. They went to a big lake.

“We have to find a good spot,” her father said. They looked around. They found a shady spot that was nice and cool. They sat down on a big rock. They took out their fishing poles. They cast their hooks into the water.

Then they waited for fish to bite. There were lots of fish in the lake. Tina could see them. She counted twelve fish. They swam around her hook. Sometimes they jumped out of the water, and made a splash.

But the fish were not biting. Tina waited and waited. As she waited, she watched the fish. They were very pretty. They seemed happy. They swam and jumped.

Tina decided she didn’t want to eat a fish. She reeled in her hook. “What are you doing?” her father asked.

“I like the fish better in the water,” she said. “I don’t want to catch one after all.”
